

OTTAWA IN THE SPRING

OTTAWA IN SPRING

Ottawa is a beautiful city with lots of green spaces and springtime is a wonderful season to enjoy them. You really can experience the great outdoors right in the heart of the city. There are some lovely gardens to discover – including the gardens at Rideau Hall, which is the Governor General's residence, and the Mackenzie King Estate in Gatineau Park. Right downtown, Major's Hill Park offers a welcomed respite from the hustle and bustle of the city. It overlooks the Rideau Canal as it empties into the Ottawa River and Parliament Hill is mere steps away from this lush, quiet park.

Ottawa is a very walkable city with several distinct and fascinating neighbourhoods. From the ByWard Market area to the Glebe and beyond you can find boutique stores, antique shops and fabulous chef owned and operated restaurants. A terrific way to explore the city is on a gourmet walking tour with C'est Bon Epicurean Adventures. Casual, informative and with lots of chances to taste and shop along the way – these tours are a real treat

With the arrival of warm spring weather comes the promise of beautiful flowers during the Canadian Tulip Festival – and Easter and Mother's Day are both great times to take a weekend break in Ottawa. Visit www.OttawaTourism.ca or phone 1-888-OTTAWA-8 for some great short break ideas. All the available packages offer discounted rates on attraction tickets, so not only are they easy to book – they represent great value.

In addition you can get great deals and a wide range of hotel choices as you create your own escape to Ottawa. Plus you can book a whole range of attraction tickets right on the website. Book in advance for museum admissions, spas like Holtz Spa and Nordik-Spa Nature, Ottawa Senators' NHL tickets and more!

Right now, for example, there is a Tulip Celebration Package to make it easy to book to go to Ottawa for the spring tulip season.

The Tulip Celebration package includes all this! You get hotel accommodation plus a certificate to receive a Rideau Centre Savings Directory. Then you can add any of the following attractions:

Canada Aviation and Space Museum

National Gallery of Canada - Collection, including special exhibit

150th birthday. As Ottawa is Canada's Capital – that is where many of the country's biggest celebratory birthday events will happen. 2017 will bring the biggest Canada Day celebration the country has ever seen! But the fun will not be limited to July 1. From new exhibitions at Ottawa's national museums, to special performances and exciting technological installations in Ottawa's downtown core, special events will be taking place all year long.

Ottawa 2017 is tasked with creating 12 full months of big, bold, immersive and moving experiences that will complement national celebrations and annual events and festivals.

Big Signature Events will animate the entire city, while community celebrations will enliven our neighbourhoods. At the same time, transformative legacy projects will change the Capital's urban landscape. The end result: a special year of national pride with many Signature events:

- JUNO Week & the 2017 JUNO Awards: Beginning on March 27, 2017, Canada's Capital will come alive with Canadian music. Throughout the week, enjoy various musical performances, workshops and other activities that showcase the diversity of Canada's vibrant music scene. The week will then culminate with a grand celebration of the country's musical elite at the JUNO Awards, which will take place at the Canadian Tire Centre on April 2, 2017.
- Interprovincial Picnic: On July 2, 2017 (the day after Canada Day), Ottawa's well-known Alexandra Bridge, which links the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, will be converted to a park with actual grass, inviting families and small groups to enjoy a picnic above the Ottawa River. This event can accommodate 650 people at a time and spaces can be rented for a small fee! Visit the 2017 Celebrations Ottawa website for more details.
- 2017 Canadian Videogame Awards: Ottawa will be home to the Canadian Videogame Awards in November 2017(exact dates to be announced)! The gala celebration will take place at the Canada Aviation and Space Museum, but the Ottawa 2017 Bureau will host a national championship for gamers as well. And the best part? The competition's semi-finals and finals will be projected onto various buildings across the city. If you're a gamer, Ottawa is where you want to be in 2017!
- It will also be the Lord Elgin Hotel's 75th anniversary

There will also be a lasting legacy for Ottawa from 2017:

- Ottawa Light Rail Transit: Ottawa's new Light Rail Transit Confederation Line could be open for preview visits in 2017.
- Ottawa Art Gallery and Arts Court: The Ottawa Art Gallery will

It will reopen in 2017 in a newly renovated building on Sparks Street. Here, you will find the most comprehensive collection of Canadian coins, tokens and paper money. Official reopening date to be announced. • Canadian Museum of History: The museum closed a hall about a year ago to renovate and make room for the new Canada History Hall. The history of Canada's First Nations people is expected to be more prominently displayed in this new hall, which will open on Canada's 150th birthday; July 1, 2017. • Canadian Museum of Nature: If you're interested in animals and nature, this is a museum you don't want to miss. A brand new and permanent Arctic Gallery will open in 2017. The new gallery is part of the museum's five-year initiative to enhance and advance research, collections, education and exhibits focusing on Canada's majestic Arctic. Official opening date to be announced. • Canada Science and Technology Museum: Home to massive steam powered trains and many other Canadian technological advancements, this museum is currently closed as it is undergoing an $80 million renovation. The renovation will see new exhibition spaces, fire-suppression systems as well as modern exterior and interior facades put in place, among many other things. The museum will reopen in 2017. Official reopening date to be announced. • Bytown Museum: Housed in Ottawa's oldest stone building – originally used during the construction of the famous Rideau Canal – this museum will celebrate its hundredth anniversary in 2017! Make sure to stop by this quaint attraction for some special activities as it marks this very important milestone.

History	The Ottawa region was long home to the Odawa or Odaawaa First Nations people. The Odawa are an Algonquin people who called the river the Kichi Sibi or Kichissippi, meaning "Great River". The first European settlement in the region was that of Philemon Wright who started a community on the Quebec side of the river in 1800. Wright discovered that transporting timber by river from the Ottawa Valley to Montreal was possible, and the area was soon booming based almost exclusively upon the timber trade. Liked by many European nations for its extremely straight and strong trunk, the White Pine was found throughout the valley. In the years following the War of 1812, in addition to settling some military regiment families, the government began sponsored immigration schemes which brought over Irish Catholics and Protestants to settle the Ottawa area, which began a steady stream of Irish immigration there in the next few decades. Along with French Canadians who crossed over from Quebec, these two groups provided the bulk of workers involved in the Rideau Canal project and the booming timber trade, both instrumental in putting Ottawa on the map. The region's population grew significantly when the canal was completed by Colonel John By in 1832. It was intended to provide a secure route between Montreal and Kingston on Lake Ontario, by-passing the stretch of the St. Lawrence River bordering New York State (the U.S invasions of Canada in the War of 1812 being a recent memory). Construction of the canal began at the northern end, where

	Colonel By set up a military barracks on what later became Parliament Hill, and laid out a town site that soon became known as Bytown. Original city leaders of Bytown include a number of Wright's sons, most notably Ruggles Wright. Nicholas Sparks, Braddish Billings and Abraham Dow were the first to settle on the Ontario side of the Ottawa river. The west side of the canal became known as "Uppertown" where the Parliament buildings are located, while the east side of the canal (wedged between the canal and Rideau River) was known as the "Lowertown". At that time, Lowertown was a crowded, boisterous shanty town, frequently receiving the worst of disease epidemics, such as the Cholera outbreak in 1832, and typhus in 1847. Ottawa became a centre for lumber milling and square-cut timber industry in Canada and, in fact, for North America as a whole. From there, it quickly expanded further up (or westward along) the Ottawa River, and logs were boomed by raftsmen great distances down the river to the mills. Bytown was renamed Ottawa in 1855, when it was incorporated as a city.

National Gallery of Canada	The story of the National Gallery of Canada began in the late 19th-century with a simple dream: that Canadians should have a national gallery to call their own. It would be a place to showcase Canadian art; to preserve, study and teach about this vast nation’s cultural heritage; and to acquire magnificent works from around the world. It would expose us to great art from all periods and in all its manifestations: paintings, photographs, sculptures and more. Today, the National Gallery of Canada is one of the world’s most

Canadian War Museum	The first thing you'll notice as you drive toward the Canadian War Museum, on the western edge of downtown Ottawa beside the Ottawa River, is the building itself. Its magnificent design — with its low-lying body that suddenly sweeps upward to create a peak that reaches 80 feet into the air — speaks to the theme of regeneration. Inside you'll find incredible exhibitions that reveal Canada's involvement in conflicts from the beginning of time until now. Tanks, artillery, combat gear, art and so many more artifacts and collections, bring an added level of realism to the country's war history. http://www.warmuseum.ca/home

The Museum is housed in the oldest stone building in Ottawa, beside a series of 8 dramatic stepped locks that connect the Rideau Canal to the Ottawa River. The Museum building served as a treasury and storehouse during the construction of the Rideau Canal in the early 1830s. The three-story museum displays artifacts and items chronicling not only the construction of the Rideau Canal, but also the early days of Bytown as a rough and tumble lumber town and its transformation into the nation's capital. Audio tours of the Bytown Museum are available in 6 languages - English, French, Spanish, German, Mandarin and Japanese - and are included with the price of admission. Wildlife	Open all year, Parc Oméga, Route 323 nord, Montebello, a nearby wildlife park, is distinctive by season, barely recognizable in both fauna and vegetation in summer as compared to winter. At the entrance, elk wait for one of the carrots purchased with your tickets, only a foreshadowing of the animals to be spotted on the drive, most of which stroll up to your car to take their snacks from your hand. Among the most visible are whitetail deer, wapiti, bison, fallow deer, raccoons, and wild boar, all of which roam free. Kept in large enclosures are black bears, timber wolves, and raptors, including bald eagles. With luck, you may see a reclusive moose.
Parks	Gatineau Park Managed by the NCC, Gatineau Park is a superb nature reserve just 15 minutes from Parliament Hill. It serves as a reminder that environmental protection is a cherished Canadian value, and its objective is to ensure the permanent preservation of a vast natural territory for the enjoyment of all Canadians. The Park is endowed with hundreds of kilometres of trails, forests containing more than fifty species of trees, abundant wildlife and numerous crystal-clear lakes typical of the hills of the Canadian Shield. Summer and winter, visitors can participate in outdoor activities or simply enjoy the tranquility of a protected natural environment. http://www.canadascapital.gc.ca/bins/ncc_web_content_page.asp?cid=16297-16299-10170&lang=1
Gardens	As Canada's Capital, Ottawa is well known for its impressive landmarks, sites, and attractions. But equally appealing is the city's beautiful natural setting of rivers, waterways, parks and pathways – and the many marvelous gardens that colour its urban yet unspoiled cityscape. Beginning with the early spring arrival of crocuses on Parliament Hill, then continuing through May's Canadian Tulip Festival and on into summer and early autumn, Ottawa's beds are ablaze with beauty – and welcome visitors to discover their flowering favourites. The National Capital Commission maintains 90 flower beds in 30 different sites, including Parliament Hill. In the spring, over one million tulips bloom in the NCC's flowerbeds, along with thousands of daffodils and spring flowering bulbs. After the spring flowers bloom, they are replaced by annuals and perennials, which keep Canada's Capital Region ablaze with colour into the fall. Home of the Governor General, the Queen's representative in Canada, you're new to Canada or simply in need of a pleasant refresher course on our great country, this two-night Ottawa getaway package is the perfect choice. Immerse yourself in Canadian history, culture and achievement at national museums and galleries. Fill with pride as you tour the Capital's famous national sites and landmark attractions. And join in the celebration at seasonal festivals and national events the year round. It's all about getting to know your Canada – and doing it all in one quintessentially Canadian place! This package includes: Hotel accommodation for your dates of stay; a Certificate to receive Rideau Centre Savings Directory; and admission to one of the museums.

3. Shop, Dine & Unwine

Ottawa is a unique mix of urban chic, culture and joie de vivre. Come immerse yourself in arts and culture at the fantastic national museums, tour historic sites, and shop, dine & unwind in unique neighbourhoods across the city. Whatever you're craving, plan to get lost for a day wandering the ByWard Market, one of Canada's oldest and largest public markets. Then try a little retail therapy at CF Rideau Centre, the region's premiere shopping centre. Ottawa is home to three culinary schools, including Le Cordon Bleu and their exquisite Signatures Restaurant. They bring a modern twist to the fine dining experience by combining world class modern French cuisine with old world charm and simple elegance. If you're looking for an active culinary experience, look no further than C'est Bon Epicurean Adventures – who offer delightful epicurean outings in the various neighbourhoods across the Capital. Then, rejuvenate your mind & body and pamper yourself with this getaway to Canada's Capital. Treat yourself to a relaxing treatment at Holtz – one of Ottawa's most luxurious spas or indulge in a full day spa experience at Nordik Spa-Nature which features their Thermal Experience.

4. Family Discovery

All family members are sure to discover something new and exciting about the Capital, the country and the world beyond with the affordable Family Discovery 2-night getaway. What better way to reconnect than sharing, learning and exploring together? This package features family admission to some of the Capital's best museums and galleries, or hands-on experiences at our most popular attractions. And there are always lots of new shops to discover at Rideau Centre and in the ByWard Market area!

5. Casino Du Lac-Leamy Getaway

Visit Canada's Capital Region and be enthralled with entertainment at its best. Surrounded by fountains and lakes, the Casino du Lac-Leamy

6. Rendez-Vous for Two

Sneak away to the Capital with that special someone for a getaway to remember. Stroll along the Rideau Canal. Visit one of the city's great cultural attractions, take a unique tour of the nation's capital, or take in a show at the National Arts Centre. For a touch of luxury, top it all off with a 5-diamond dinner at Le Cordon Bleus Signatures Restaurant. Here's your chance to get away from the ordinary and plan a romantic escape for two in Ottawa.

7. Taste of Canada

Looking for an escape with a distinctly Canadian flavour? Then come sample some of the best of Canada with this two-night getaway package in the Capital. If you're into the great Canadian outdoors, just step outside your Ottawa hotel and go – from skating and skiing in winter to great golf, cycling, running, hiking, and water sports in summer. If your tastes tend more toward arts and culture, Ottawa's got you covered with the country's biggest lineup of national museums, galleries and performing arts. And if what you're really looking forward to is a taste of Canadian culinary excellence, Ottawa's community of renowned chefs will be only too happy to oblige. This package includes hotel accommodation; certificate to receive Rideau Centre Savings Directory and Le Cordon Bleu Bistro @ Signatures - Dinner for Two; a gift from Le Cordon Bleu is also included (available Thurs to Sat).

8. Hockey Night in the Capital

This is hockey country and your ticket to an exciting action-packed evening! Here's your chance to see the Ottawa Senators in action this season. Your Hockey Night in the Capital Package includes tickets (best available) to a Sens game (including Montreal Canadiens, Toronto Maple Leafs, Boston Bruins and other great teams) and one night accommodation in a hotel of your choice. Check out one of these exhilarating games and cheer on Ottawa with other die-hard fans!

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES

Here are some of the many highlights of my own trips to Ottawa:

Private group tours available. Various tours available 7 days a week. 90 minute tour (I went on the Ghosts and the Gallows tour) The Diefenbunker: Canada's Cold War Museum - This vestige of Cold War history is a unique reminder of Ottawa's position in global politics. www.diefenbunker.ca Byward Market – fun to visit at any time of the year Amphibus Lady Dive – 60 sightseeing tour on land and river, 48 pax, under and over Alexander Bridge National Gallery of Canada – always stunning Changing the Guard Ceremony @ 10.00 on Parliament Hill Le Cordon Bleu Culinary Arts Institute and Signatures Restaurant Casino du Lac Leamy and its restaurants Arome and Le Baccara Scotia Bank Place for a Senators hockey game Zak's Diner – in Byward Market Some of the hotels that I have enjoyed staying at include: The Westin Ottawa Hotel, Fairmont Chateau Laurier, Indigo Hotel.
Travel Show Magic Moments in Ottawa	I often include a specific a-ha moment from my trips to the destinations we feature on the show. Here are a few Travel Show Magic Moments from my past visits to Ottawa: “Among the kaleidoscope of tulips and the many other spring festivals in Ottawa, there is one dear to my heart – and that is the Ottawa Race Weekend. This is the largest multi-day running event in Canada and attracts over forty thousand participants over a weekend in May each year. A few years ago I ran the Ottawa Marathon as part of this event. We started off on a beautiful spring morning from one of the many downtown parks in the city and ran past the throngs of cheering supporters through the streets of Ottawa and over the Chaudiere Bridge into Gatineau on the other side of the Ottawa River. I was trying to qualify for the Boston Marathon, so I was pushing myself hard as we turned south past the Museum of Civilisation (now the Museum of History) and onto the Alexandra Bridge over the Ottawa River. And that is where I had my Magic Moment. Half way across the bridge, I looked up to my right and there, illuminated in the spring sunshine like an ethereal palace from a children's fairy tale, was Parliament Hill in all its very Canadian glory. I stopped dead in my tracks. Literally. In the middle of my race. A small group of other runners also stopped beside me. And one by one, we panted: "Wow"! And then we got going again, but with that image to spur me on, I managed to cross the line just inside my qualifying time. And now on every visit to Ottawa I try to return to that breath-taking vantage point."

"It's high summer in Ottawa and I am broadcasting an on-location Travel Show from the most beautiful patio in Ottawa! The broadcast equipment is piled on a table at La Terrasse, the open air window on Ottawa at the capital's iconic hotel, Fairmont Chateau Laurier. As we come to a break in the show, a glass of chilled white wine appears beside me and I feel a gentle breeze coming off the Ottawa River, tempering the summertime heat. The view from the Terrasse epitomizes Ottawa: immediately below me is the Rideau Canal with its locks allowing entry to the Ottawa River. On the other side, a classic view of Parliament Hill, brightly illuminated in the sunshine under a cloudless sky. I am so much at one with the moment that I almost miss my cue back into the broadcast..."

"I am standing on a balcony overlooking a vast hangar full of flying machines. Stephen Quick, the Director of the Aviation and Space Museum in Ottawa is guiding me around this collection of more than 130 aircraft and artifacts - such as propellers and engines - from right across the military and civilian worlds. The Museum aims to engage visitors with the wonder of flight through this spectacular collection and its educational programming – and I am suitably engaged! It's the most extensive aviation collection in Canada and one of the finest in the world. My father was in the Royal Air Force for five years during the Second World War, so I am particularly drawn to this section of the museum. However, when I fly the museum's simulator and try to land my plane, I end up in the nearby woods rather than the runway, so I clearly have not inherited his flight talents!"

"Wars are obscene. I dislike everything about them. The thought that after all our other advances of civilization, we still sometimes resort to war to sort out our differences appalls me. So I generally do not like War

Chris Robinson Associates Inc does not warrant the quality, accuracy or completeness of any claims, statements or information contained within this document. This document was created at the time of broadcast and may not be current.

Museums, which tend to glorify warfare. The relatively new Canadian War Museum is very different. Yes, there's lots of military hardware here, but nowhere is warfare itself eulogized and considerable space is given to Canada's honourable tradition of peace-keeping. And the highlight here for me is a space with but one exhibit – the Memorial Hall. It's a quiet public space for rest and reflection where I spend a quiet moment of remembrance. The concrete walls, grooved with large, offset rectangles, are reminiscent of the rows of white grave markers in Allied war cemeteries. And that lone artifact is the headstone from the grave of Canada's Unknown Soldier. On Remembrance Day, at exactly 11:00 a.m., sunlight shines through a single window to frame perfectly the headstone, lest we forget."

"It's the holiday season in Ottawa and I am in our nation's capital for some precious reconnecting time with my family. It's cold but crisply sunny and our trip plan is based on the choosing game: each of us chooses something to do or see and we all enthusiastically participate. There's certainly no shortage of choices in Ottawa, just a shortage of daylight hours to do it all at this time of year! Tim, our youngest son, takes us to the Canadian Museum of Nature to stand in awe of the dinosaurs. Pip, our eldest son, opts for the Haunted Walk of Ottawa which is a clever mix of history and the macabre. I take the family to explore the shopping, restaurants and seasonal ambience of the Byward Market. And Dara, my wife, treats us to a memorable meal at Signatures Restaurant. As the snow falls softly outside and a devilish dessert arrives, I reflect that Ottawa really is a wonderful place to spend some quality family time in all four seasons..."

"It was our first winter as New Canadians and so naturally we came to Ottawa to experience the delights of the world-famous Winterlude festival, which we'd heard so much about in Europe. Our boys were very young: six months and five years old...and they loved the snow playgrounds, all the fun kids' activities and characters and the bright sunny skies in Ottawa that weekend. And of course we had to try skating on the World's largest skating rink – the Rideau Canal. With our baby wrapped up in blankets in a push-sledge and our skates rented on site, we set off. And I discovered that my wife and five years old were skaters...and I was not! Despite my ineptitude on blades, it was still a perfect family afternoon of memories, as we made our erratic way along the canal, me holding myself upright by pushing the sled, just drinking in the champagne air with sparkling snow crystals dancing and the iconic Ottawa views of the canal and Parliament Hill forever imprinted on our memory banks..."

TULIP FESTIVAL May 12 – 23, 2016	2016 marks the 64th edition of the Canadian Tulip Festival. Ottawa's tulip heritage is the result of a 1945 gift to Ottawa from Princess Juliana of the Netherlands in thanks for the safe haven the city provided the Dutch Royal Family during the Second World and the role Canadian troops played in liberating Holland during that conflict. The tulip beds in Ottawa such as Commissioners Park are under the care of the National Capital Commission (NCC). The NCC also manages the tulip displays at Parliament Hill, along Confederation Boulevard, the historic Rideau Canal, the Capital's scenic parkways, the recreational pathway network, and at national museums and institutions. And the NCC looks after the design and maintenance of the gardens at Canada's Official Residences, including Rideau Hall and 24 Sussex Drive. The Canadian Tulip Festival is a celebration of the return of spring, with over a million tulips in 50 varieties blooming in public spaces across the National Capital Region. The highest concentration of tulips can be viewed in the flower beds of Commissioners Park, on the banks of Dow's Lake, where 300,000 flowers bloom. The skilled gardeners who plant the bulbs are creating works of art with "messages in flowers". So for instance the choice of colour of the blooms is very important. The gardeners of the NCC plan the tulip display to last as long as possible, and they plant a number of different varieties of tulip bulbs. Early flowering tulips usually bloom around the end of April and late flowering blooms are still creating a beautiful display until the end of May. During the Canadian Tulip Festival, May 12 – 23, 2016, you'll encounter pageantry, music and art throughout Ottawa's great neighbourhoods.
2016 Festival Programme	For the full line-up of all the activities and events in the 64th edition of this festival, see the website at: http://tulipfestival.ca
History of the Festival	The Canadian Tulip Festival has grown into the largest Tulip Festival in the world from a gift of International Friendship given six decades ago. In the fall of 1945, Princess Juliana of the Netherlands presented Ottawa with 100,000 tulip bulbs. The gift was given in appreciation of the safe haven that members of Holland's exiled royal family received during the Second World War in Ottawa and in recognition of the role which Canadian troops played in the liberation of the Netherlands. The tulips have become an important symbol of international friendship and the beauty of spring. They also have special meaning to people of Canada's Capital Region. During the war, the Dutch royal family was

	hosted at Government House in Ottawa. Princess Margriet was born at the Ottawa Civic Hospital; her hospital room declared "Dutch soil" and the flag of the Netherlands flew on Parliament's Peace Tower. A few years after the Dutch tulips arrived in 1945, they became a strong attraction. Stunning pictures appeared in newspapers nationwide. More and more events began to centre around the annual bloom of tulips. The first Canadian Tulip Festival was held in 1953. The Ottawa Board of Trade, at the suggestion of world-renowned photographer Malak Karsh whose photographs have immortalized the tulip, formalized the Canadian Tulip Festival to coincide with the tulip's annual bloom. In the next 10 years the Festival grew in size, with a staggering display of over two million flowers. Over the decades the Festival has been opened by Governors General, Prime Ministers and Royalty, including several return visits from Queen Juliana and Princess Margriet. In addition, international superstars - Liberace in 1972 - and Canadian superstars have performed at the Canadian Tulip Festival. Singer Alanis Morissette made her debut on the Tulip stage at the age of 12 in 1987. Through the 1990s and into the new millennium, the Canadian Tulip Festival celebrated the Tulip as a symbol of Peace and Friendship creating an annual international bond by twinning with Friendship Countries including the Netherlands, Turkey, France, Japan, the United States, Great Britain and Australia. In 2002, the Festival celebrated its 50th Anniversary dedicated to its founder, Malak Karsh, having expanded to an event showcasing over 3 million tulips throughout Canada's Capital Region. Each spring over 600,000 people from all over North America, Europe and Asia make over a million visits to the Canadian Tulip Festival. Studies show it has a $50 million economic impact annually on the Ottawa region. The event, which grew from the Dutch gift of friendship, has become the world's largest Tulip Festival and Ottawa has become the Tulip Capital of the North America.
